SST1021 Christology

Survey of many interpretation of Jesus Christ in the past 2,000 years of history to find the most biblical and evangelical understanding of Christ (How did people come to believe Jesus as the Christ when he was born in Bethlehem and raised in Nazareth? Was he simply an ordinary man? Or was he God and man at the same time?).

SST 1031 Pneumatology

Doctrinal study of the Holy Spirit within the relationship of Theology and Christology, and historical study of the Bible through biblical theological perspective, ecclesiological relationship, apparent historical issues, grace, spiritual gift, mystery, and encounters.

SPT1031 Introduction to Homiletics

The function of a prophet is the most important ministry for a pastor in the Protestant Church. Proclaiming, interpreting and applying the Word of God to the congregation in today's language is a unique ministry that cannot be compared to any other callings. After completing the theory and practice of preaching, students are asked to stand on the pulpit. Basic theory of preaching is reviewed. Students who want to study preaching more from an academic dimension can research specifically and practically through an elective course.

SGT7361 Practicum in Parish Ministry

Field education in church ministry is necessary for the cultivation of holistic pastors. Experience the overall pastoral ministry through a field supervisor at church, through personal experience, selfreflection of pastor's character and life, ministry skills (preaching, worship, education, service, and fellowship), calling of a pastor, ministry philosophy, and leadership.

SCC1013 Christian Ethics

Christian Ethics is to reflect and plan our faithlife according to the God-given revelation. More desirable model of faith-life is sought and attempted by approaching and analyzing specific faith-life through inter-disciplinary research of theology, philosophy and sociology. First half focuses on the characteristics and issues of Christian Ethics. In addition to the fundamentals, more holistic faith-life is sought by examining the overall life of a believer in the area of political ethics, economical ethics, biomedical ethics, work ethics, and ministry ethics.

SST1041 Ecclesiology and Eschatology

Ecclesiology and Eschatology are two very important fields in Dogmatic Theology. Ecclesiology focuses on the purpose of the Church, Church and the Kingdom of God, and the features and the central idea of the Presbyterian Church. Eschatology focuses on death of an individual, condition of an individual after death, the Second Coming of Jesus Christ, the central idea of the book of Revelation, 1000 year Millennialism, 666, and the resurrection.

SMT5011 Theology of Mission

Theology of Christian Mission is introduced and biblical understanding of mission, development process of mission theology, and major issues in the contemporary mission are presented.

SPT2112 Pastoral Counseling

Issues in the ministry field is presented along with meeting and relationship skills, problem solving skills, methods in crisis mediation, and methods of finding hope in the midst of despair to live a holistically healthy life of salvation.

SGT7371 Practicum in Non-parish Ministry

An organization relevant to the respective calling is selected from a mission organization outside of church or social services organization or NGO. Field education relevant to the ministry calling, supervision of a field supervisor, and practical learning through service all prepare for future ministry in various fields.
